The Board of Appeal was constituted by the appointment of the Hon. Albion F. Bemis of the Council to serve with the Treasurer and Auditor.

The Board held its first meeting January 1, 1909, with Hon. A. B. Chapin as chairman. On resignation of Mr. Chapin, Hon. Elmer A. Stevens was appointed chairman.

Since that time appeals by 18 corporations have been heard, with the result indicated in Table B.

There have also been many appeals by cities and towns as to the distribution of corporation and bank taxes, which have been heard and determined by the Board.

Taxation of Bank Shares.

Whole amount of tax on bank shares assessed, . .		$1,378,586 01

		$870,341 18

Of the tax of $870,341 on non-resident bank stock, $363,756 accrues to the Commonwealth, and the balance is distributed to cities and towns, certain insurance companies, charitable institutions and savings banks, according to law.

Table D, annexed, shows the net amount of bank taxes distributed to each city and town. These amounts will be somewhat modified by the final adjustment of disputed claims.

Table E shows the amount collected in each city or town having a bank, on account of shares held out of such place.

Both these tables exhibit the amounts as determined upon the evidence furnished by the returns as received at first, and are to be modified somewhat by the corrections established by evidence subsequently produced before the Board of Appeal.

The following companies have been authorized to issue stock and bonds in these amounts: —

Amherst Water Company. Capital stock to the amount of $25,000, under Revised Laws, chapter 109, section 30.

Cohasset Water Company. Capital stock to the amount of $15,000, under Revised Laws, chapter 109, section 30.

Cottage City Water Company. Capital stock to the amount of $20,000, under Revised Laws, chapter 109, section 30.

Dedham Water Company. Bonds to an amount not exceeding $60,000, under Revised Laws, chapter 109, section 24.

Heath Telephone Company. Capital stock to the amount of $30,000, under Revised Laws, chapter 109, section 30.

Oxford Water Company. Capital stock to the amount of $10,000, under Revised Laws, chapter 109, section 30.

Foreign Corporations.

By chapter 437, Acts of 1903, any foreign corporation having a usual place of business in this Commonwealth is required to appoint the Commissioner of Corporations its attorney, upon whom all lawful processes in any action or proceeding against it may be served; and also to file with the commissioner a copy of its charter or certificate of organization, its by-laws and a statement in regard to the amount and the payment of its capital stock.

Eight thousand one hundred and thirteen have complied with the provisions of this chapter, 333 having been filed the present year.

The total number of legal processes that have been served upon the commissioner as attorney under the provisions of this statute is 17,137. Of this number, 658 were served during the year.

By sections 58 and 66 foreign corporations are required to file a certificate of condition in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth; 2,135 have complied during the year.

Municipal Assets and Liabilities.

Table F contains tabulated results of returns received from all the cities and towns in the State, in substantially the same form as last year.

The same form of statement has been continued, as it furnishes opportunity for comparison with statements of previous years, and because, on the whole, it exhibits fairly the financial condition of municipalities.

Table G has been prepared to show the percentage of debt to valuation for purposes of local taxation, and a column has been added, to give sinking funds where they exist.

In calculating these percentages, trust funds have been omitted from the amount of debts in those towns where there is an asset of the same character to the amount of such debt.

For convenience of comparison, I have added to the tables a statement (Table H) of the indebtedness of several municipalities for the years 1872, 1875, 1878 and 1909. In this table sinking funds, to the extent of assets held, have been deducted from the outstanding debt of municipality for all years.

The year 1872 was the commencement of the present system of reporting assets and liabilities.

Upon comparing the tables for the past two years, it appears that 171 towns have diminished their net debt, 118 have increased it and 13 towns have neither increased nor diminished.

Fifty-two towns which had no debt last year have no debt this year; 62 towns have no debt this year, against 61 which were in like situation last year.

The percentage of net debt has increased in 86 towns.

The towns of Granville, Hull, Monroe and West Bridgewater have failed to make any return.

A synopsis of the aggregate valuation by the local assessors, aggregate net debt of municipalities, and percentage of same, is herewith given for the years 1871 to 1909, inclusive: —

Year.	Aggregate Valuation.	Aggregate Net Debt.	Percentage.
1871, ...	$1,497,351,686	$39,421,298	.026

The gross interest-bearing debt of municipalities of the State was $236,340,846 on the first day of May, 1909.

If we assume the rate of interest to average 3½ per cent., which is a safe average, the amount raised by taxation for interest alone in 1909 was $8,271,929.

The aggregate net debt of the municipalities of the State for 1908 was $163,558,325, and for 1909, $166,080,073, showing an increase of $2,521,748.

The aggregate local assessment of taxes for State, town and county purposes in 1909 was $65,381,747, as reported to the Tax Commissioner.

Of this, $4,500,000 was State tax and $4,084,499 county tax, leaving $56,797,248 as the total local assessment for municipal purposes, being 86 per cent. of the aggregate tax.

The total amount of sinking funds reported last year was $57,722,970, this year it is $62,155,366, — an increase of $4,432,396.

The gross debt for water works is $41,662,146, the amount of water sinking funds reported is $14,539,508, leaving $27,122,638 net water debt, or 16 per cent. of net indebtedness.

Chapter 27, section 13, of the Revised Laws provides that cities and towns required to establish a sinking fund for the payment of their indebtedness may, instead thereof, provide for the payment of such indebtedness in such annual proportional payments as will extinguish the same within the time required by law.

Many towns, doubtless, have heretofore pursued the policy authorized by this act. Such returns as have been received are given in Table G.

Exempted Property.

Table I contains a tabulated statement of the facts contained in the returns received, in accordance with the requirements of chapter 490, Acts of 1909, Part I., section 95.

Property held for Literary, Benevolent, Charitable and Scientific Purposes.

Abstracts of the returns received under the provisions of chapter 490, Acts of 1909, Part I., will be found in Table K, showing the aggregate value of real estate to be $91,229,969, and of personal estate, $96,067,503, total, $187,297,472; showing also the income of the several corporations for the year ending May 1, 1909, $19,681,057, and the expenditures, $19,099,895.

The Taxation of Express Companies.

The Acts of 1907, chapter 586, codified in sections 72 to 79 of Part III. of chapter 490 of the Acts of 1909, providing for the taxation of express companies, has been operative for two years, and returns have been made by all express companies which fall within its provisions for the years 1908 and 1909. The result has been that, of the companies making the return, only 4 companies paid a tax in 1908 and 4 companies in 1909. The total amount received under this law in 1908 was $386.53, and in 1909, $118.04. The conclusion must be that as a source of revenue the law is a failure.

The reason for this result in the case of the smaller express companies is that the local taxation on real estate, machinery, merchandise and other property subject to local taxation, together with non-taxable securities, is so large that after deducting it from the value of the franchise there is no value left upon which to assess a tax. In the case of the larger companies, which do business in other States as well as in Massachusetts, the value of property situated outside the State and subject to taxation where situated, and of the property of the company which is not used in the business and does not form any part of the value of the organic unit of the organization for express business purposes, is so large that little if any value remains for taxation after making the deductions on account of these items.

Under the rule laid down in Fargo and Hart, Supreme Court of United States, Vol. 193, page 490, the Attorney-General has determined that, although this tax is an excise, levied upon such proportion of its property, after making certain deductions, as the gross earnings of the person, copartnership or association within the State bears to his or its total gross earnings, yet it is in essence a tax on property, and that property of the company situated outside this Commonwealth is not within the jurisdiction of the State for purposes of taxation.

Although the statute itself is silent as to this class of property, and does not provide for its deduction, the Attorney-General is of opinion that it was probably the intention of the Legislature to undertake to tax only such property as is within the jurisdiction of the State, and that in consequence stocks, bonds and other securities, not being a part of the organic unit of these companies, should be deducted from the whole franchise value of the companies before obtaining the proportion taxable on the basis of gross earnings.

Under these circumstances it cannot be expected that the tax will yield any revenue, and if it is to be the policy of the Commonwealth to tax express companies, some other method must be adopted.

Codification of Laws relating to Taxation.

Chapter 490 of the Acts of 1909, "An Act to codify and amend the laws relating to taxation," made some changes in the existing laws of taxation, to which I deem it my duty to call attention.

Previous to the codification of the tax laws in 1909, the provisions of statute relating to the taxation of trust funds held by administrators, executors, trustees and others have been two. The provision of more general application has been found in chapter 12, section 23, clause fifth, of the Revised Laws, which provides that a municipality shall assess such administrator, executor or trustee for the funds held by him at the rate of taxation prevailing in the municipality for the year. This section was so worded that the tax was assessed by the municipality in which the beneficiary resided, if he resided in Massachusetts; otherwise, the tax was assessed by the municipality in which the trustee resided. In addition to this section, there was in chapter 14 of the Revised Laws, section 35, a provision that a trust company which, as administrator, executor or trustee, held such funds should be taxed by the Commonwealth upon the value of such funds at the rate obtaining for the year for the taxation of corporate franchises.

This chapter further provided that the tax so assessed should be distributed. The result of this distribution in general was that the same town would receive the tax as would have received it if the tax had been assessed under the provisions of chapter 12, referred to above. Since the corporate franchise rate has not varied very much from the rate of taxation prevailing in the cities and towns, it made little difference in dollars and cents whether the tax was assessed by the town or by the State. The evident intent of the statute was that such trust funds should be assessed but once. In cases where the assessment has been made by the towns, the Tax Commissioner has omitted assessment provided for by chapter 14; and in cases where no assessment has been made by the town, the Tax Commissioner has assessed the tax as he has been directed to by said chapter 14.

There has been an ambiguity in the law in respect to these two sections which might have been called to the attention of the Legislature at any time during the last few years, but it has not been considered worth while to eradicate this ambiguity, since it made no difference to the trust company whether it paid the tax to the State or to the town, inasmuch as the rates were substantially the same.

By the codification of the tax laws, enacted as chapter 490 of the Acts of the year 1909, it was provided in Part III. of said chapter, section 37, that the rate at which such trust funds in the hands of trust companies shall be taxed hereafter is $5 per thousand. Section 23 of chapter 12 has been re-enacted as section 23 of Part I. of chapter 490 of the Acts of 1909, unchanged. It comes about now, therefore, that this section provides that trust funds held by executors, administrators and trustees shall be taxed at the local rate, while section 37 of Part III. provides that trust companies shall be assessed at the rate of $5 per thousand upon such trust funds. With the enactment of this codification, therefore, two rates of taxation are provided by statute for trust funds: one — the larger — to be applied, presumably, to trust funds held by individual trustees; the other — the smaller — specifically to be applied to trust companies holding trust funds. It may well occur hereafter that the municipalities will consider and will claim that they still have a right to tax a trust company on account of such trust funds, since section 23 of Part I. does not, in terms, exclude trust companies from its operation. It is evident that hereafter trust companies will prefer to pay a tax upon such trust funds at the rate of $5 per thousand to the State rather than at the rate of $17 or $18 or $20 a thousand to a municipality. The ambiguity, which has not served to cause any embarrassment heretofore, may be expected to result in real difficulty hereafter unless it is eradicated. The establishment of a rate of $5 per thousand for the taxation of these trust funds held by trust companies is new legislation. As a result of it, if it continues on the statute books, it may be expected that trust funds in large amounts (much of such funds from outside of the Commonwealth) will be deposited with trust companies as trustees, in order that the beneficiaries may avail themselves of this lower rate of taxation. It may be expected that the revenue to the Commonwealth from this source will within a few years be a large amount. As a provider of revenue, this new tax rate appears to have much in its favor. The question has been raised, however, whether such an enactment is constitutional, inasmuch as it would appear that we have now two rates of taxation for the same class of property, namely, the local rate, averaging $17 or $18 per thousand upon such property held by individual trustees, and a rate of $5 per thousand upon such property when held by a trust company as trustee. Whether the two taxes provided by these two sections are both taxes upon property, and must therefore, under the terms of the Constitution, be at the same rate, or whether the former is a tax upon property and the latter an excise tax, I do not presume to say. Some claim that the change makes two classes of trustees in the Commonwealth taxed at different rates, and that in consequence the taxation is not uniform; and others, equally well qualified to judge, claim that, even if this be so, the new tax is purely an excise tax, which does not have to be proportional, and that clause fifth, section 23, does not apply to corporations.

In view of this conflict of opinion, I deem it my duty to call this matter to the attention of the Legislature, in order that the conflict between the statutes may be removed, if there be any. If this rate of $5 is to remain upon the statute book, there should be an amendment to section 23 of Part I. of chapter 490, in terms, excluding trust companies from the operation of the tax therein provided.

A second change is found in section 41, clause third, of Part III., which provides for the deductions to be made in assessing the value of the corporate franchise of business corporations. The business law of 1903, chapter 437, introduced new elements in the deductions to be made from the value of the corporate franchise, namely, "securities which if held by a natural person would not be liable to taxation," and also "property situated in another state or country and subject to taxation therein." In order to make it certain that securities which were taxable to the individual should not be included in this class for deduction, it expressly provided "From such value there shall not be deducted securities, which if owned by a natural person resident in this commonwealth would be liable to taxation." The omission of this phrase, in the codification, from the section where it was originally contained, was on the ground that it was unnecessary; but whether it is unnecessary for the purposes of the statutes or not, the omission of it leads to ambiguity and misinterpretation, when before the law was clear.

I recommend that the phrase be restored to the statute as it originally stood.

Revision of Assessments.

Another omission of an important provision was made in the codification by leaving out the statute which gave to the Tax Commissioner the power of recommending to assessors a revision of assessments. In the statutes of 1908 (chapter 550, section 5) for the first time the Tax Commissioner was empowered to recommend to assessors the revision of any assessment made by them, if in his opinion any property in the Commonwealth was not properly valued for the purpose of taxation. This provision was omitted from the codification, on the ground that there were other provisions of the statutes which practically covered it; namely, the power of the commissioner to direct assessors to adopt adequate methods of keeping their records, or to make fuller examination of the records of the registry of deeds and probate court, or to make use of information that the Tax Commissioner has furnished to them.

But it is clear, on reading the two sections side by side, that the power to recommend action on the part of assessors for the purpose of obtaining or using information did not include the power of recommending revisions of valuations, and that something was lost by the omission.

During the year 1908 about thirty millions of taxable property were added to the lists throughout the State by the operation of the power of revision, and all of it was held for taxation and paid a tax. The omission of this power has caused a loss of over fifty millions in 1909 which was in hand the middle of the year, and could have been given to the assessors at that time. Probably much more than this amount would have been available for the supplementary assessment by December 15.

The power of recommending the revision of a tax is an important one, even though the statute does not provide a penalty for failure on the part of assessors to make the change recommended. In many cities and towns it makes the incidence of taxation more uniform by reducing the rate of taxation, and supplies the assessors with information which could not be obtained in any other way.

The power of revision is of such importance that it ought to be reincorporated in the statutes, and I so recommend.

Dissolution of Corporations.

There is an accumulation of about 700 corporations on the files of this department whose charters have fallen into disuse, which now do no business in the Commonwealth and will probably never do any in the future. As long as their corporate existence continues they require more or less attention, and must be published every year in the commissioner's report, for the information of assessors. This requires time and expense which it is desirable to save. I therefore recommend that such corporations be dissolved in the manner heretofore employed by the Legislature.

Distribution of the Tax on Business Corporations.

The statute changing the distribution of the corporate franchise tax, as far as it affects business corporations, went into effect and was applied for the first time to the distribution of the tax received from business corporations in 1909. It was foreseen that a radical change would result in the amounts returned to certain favored cities and towns, but until the principle of the statute was actually applied no data existed for making an estimate of the effect the new law would have upon the cities and towns of the State. The effect of the change upon cities and towns is of such general public importance and interest that I have deemed it advisable to make a table giving an exhibit of the changes in amounts received under the new law, comparing them with the last distribution made under the old law, and showing the per cent. of increase or decrease in the amounts received by each city and town. The table shows the largest percentage of change in those cities and towns whose residents held large amounts of stock in corporations, and the largest increase in those cities and towns where the property of the corporation is situated.

Collection of Corporation Taxes.

The interval between the date of assessment of the corporate franchise tax and the time when the Attorney-General takes action for its collection is a long one, sometimes amounting to as much as five months. During this period it is frequently the case that a corporation will turn over all its assets to a new corporation organized for the same purposes as the old corporation, and thus escape the payment of the tax. The only remedy the Attorney-General has is to enjoin the corporation, which is obviously ineffective, since no one is interested in keeping it alive. He cannot follow the assets of the old corporation into the new one, and the stockholders and officers are not liable for the tax, although financially able to pay it. With the increase in the number of corporations, this practice is growing, and I suggest that a law be enacted, giving the Commonwealth sufficient remedy to collect the tax by following the assets.

Inheritance Tax.

The law regulating the taxation of legacies and successions (chapter 490, Acts of 1909, Part IV., originally chapter 563, Acts of 1907) became fully operative September 1, 1909. It had then been in force two years.

Taxes of this class become due and payable two years from the date of the probate bond. It is largely the practice to pay these taxes as soon as possible after the granting of probate on estates, and thus free the property of the estate from the lien provided by section 4 of the act. Many such taxes have been paid before they became due, so that the total tax collected is much larger than it would have been if the two years had been allowed to elapse before payment was made. The whole amount collected for the year ending November 30, 1909, under this law is $908,134. Now that the statute is in full operation, it may be expected that the yield of this tax will materially increase.

The intricacies of this law require for its enforcement a much larger office force than was anticipated when it was first enacted. The consequence has been that this branch of the work has largely outgrown its accommodations, and the work of administering the law has been handicapped from the want of room. When it is understood that this office is a clearing-house for all the probate courts in the Commonwealth, some idea may be obtained of the extent of the work required. Although additional room has been provided for this branch of the work, it is inadequate for present needs. The work is bound to increase and to outgrow anything now furnished, and I do not see how the quarters now occupied by this division can be considered anything more than temporary. Thousands of papers are each year sent to the Tax Commissioner by the registers of probate. These papers must be indexed and cross-indexed, and must be close at hand for the clerks of the department. The inheritance tax division now occupies about 550 feet of floor space. It has already outgrown its present quarters, though it has occupied them but a month. By successive acts of the Legislature passed during the last six years, and because of the large increase in the number of corporations coming under the supervision of the department, the volume of our work has more than tripled since 1903. The number of persons employed and the expenses of the department have doubled. Our quarters, which were no more than reasonably adequate six years ago, have been increased slightly, but are now so inadequate that the work of the department and the reasonable comfort of the public with which we deal are sufferers.

I earnestly request that the Legislature take action necessary to provide increased space for the department.

Taxation of Certain Forms of Insurance.

Section 35, chapter 490, Part III., Acts of 1909, provides that the Tax Commissioner shall assess taxes upon certain classes of insurance companies, domestic and otherwise, in accordance with certain returns required to be made to him by section 34. But it does not include in its provisions any authority to so assess companies engaged in the business of insuring against accident to the person, of insuring employers against liability for accident to employees, of acting as surety on bonds or of guaranteeing the fidelity of employees.

While section 34 provides for a return from this class of companies, section 35 does not in terms authorize the assessment of a tax, as it does in the case of other companies.

The reason is apparent. Casualty, accident, surety and indemnity insurance was not included in the taxing statutes until 1890, while the taxation of other forms of insurance was provided for much earlier, so that reference made in section 35 to other sections of the statute did not originally include accident and kindred forms of insurance. And, by oversight, subsequent revisions have left the statutes as they were. While this condition of the law has remained unchanged for a number of years, and no one has ever questioned the authority of the commissioner to assess this particular class of companies, it seems best to make an amendment to the statutes, so as to preclude the possibility of contention in the future.

I therefore recommend the change.

Equalization and Apportionment of Property.

Under the provisions of sections 100 and 101, Part I., chapter 490, Acts of 1909, the Tax Commissioner is required to prepare and report to the General Court, in every third year, "an equalization and apportionment upon the several cities and towns, of the number of polls, the amount of property, and the proportion of every one thousand dollars of state or county tax, including polls at one tenth of a mill each, which should be assessed upon each city and town."

In the discharge of this duty the commissioner is supplied by the assessors with returns of the local taxation of polls and estates within the Commonwealth, and "he may require from state, city and town officers such further returns and statements relative to the amount and value of taxable property in the several cities and towns as in his judgment may be necessary." "He shall to the best of his judgment and discretion prepare said equalization and apportionment upon the basis of the returns and statements herein provided for and authorized."

Prior to the passage of this law (Acts of 1881, chapter 163) this apportionment was made by a committee of the General Court, selected for the purpose from the different sections of the Commonwealth. This committee was divided into sub-committees to examine the returns of the assessors. Other sub-committees were appointed to appraise the value of certain classes of property specifically named.

The method of procedure was that the committee should first appraise the value of such items as in their judgment bore a uniform value throughout the Commonwealth.

Second. — For the purpose of fixing the valuation of the several cities and towns a sample town was selected from each county, except Suffolk, by the members therefrom, and the respective items returned by said sample town, together with "land owned by the town or other proprietary," were appraised by the committee, and also such items as were returned by other cities and towns in the county which were not in the return of the sample town.

Third. — After these appraisals were made, the abstracts of the same were submitted to the respective county delegates, with instructions to value the items returned by such city and town according to the principles established in appraising their several sample towns, with such alterations and additions as were deemed necessary to conform them to the actual state of the polls and property, and to report the amount for which any city or town which had made no returns ought to be doomed; and also to report an aggregate of the valuation of the several cities and towns in their respective counties.

Fourth. — Provision was made for ascertaining the proper number of polls when no returns were made by a city or town.

Fifth. — Provisions were made for adjusting any deficiency in the number of acres of land in a city or town when it appeared from the returns of the assessors that the whole number of acres fell short of the whole number given in the survey.

In accordance with these rules of procedure, the various committees examined the assessors' returns, analyzed them and made such additions as in their judgment were necessary. They exercised judgment and discretion by changing the assessors' valuations of land per acre, of the value of houses, superficial area of wharfage, etc., and by adding hundreds of thousands and millions of dollars to the valuations of cities and towns, in order to make a more perfect equalization of the property. The powers which they exercised were not unlike the powers exercised by tax commissioners of various other States.

When the law above quoted was enacted in 1881, transferring to the Tax Commissioner the duty of making this equalization and apportionment, the power of making changes in valuations was restricted or taken away altogether. An analysis of the statute shows that the judgment and discretion which the commissioner is to exercise in making his determinations is restricted to the basis of the returns provided for and authorized by the statute. Those returns are limited to returns from assessors, and to such further returns and statements from State, city and town officers relative to the amount and value of taxable property in the several cities and towns as in the judgment of the Tax Commissioner may be necessary. It is manifest that in the exercise of his powers under this statute the commissioner is limited to the returns mentioned. This gives him no power to make use of information acquired from other sources not mentioned in the statute. The consequence is that it is within the power of cities and towns, by making a low valuation of property, to control in a measure the amount of their contribution to the State tax; and unless all cities and towns resort to the same procedure and make valuations upon the same basis, the incidence of the tax falls heavier on some cities and towns than on others, and the tax is not uniform.

It is a well-known fact that cities and towns vary greatly in the amount of personalty assessed. It is also true, though perhaps not so well known, that there are places where real estate is purposely assessed at less than its fair cash value in order that the town's portion of the State tax shall be lessened. Such practices result in disproportionate assessments upon cities and towns. For this there is no remedy under the present statute. If the powers originally employed by the committees of the Legislature were given to the Tax Commissioner, much of this inequality of assessment could be corrected, and cities and towns which make a full assessment of their property would not suffer in comparison with other cities and towns which make a low valuation. But the Legislature did not delegate this power, and the evils resulting from undervaluations have grown up. Through the avenues opened to the Tax Commissioner, it has become apparent that there are large amounts of property, not assessed by city and town officials, which ought to be added to the schedules in finding a basis for the apportionment of the State tax. The amount of such property now known to the Tax Commissioner's department is of such character that it can be credited to the valuation of specific cities and towns, and taxed with the expectation that the tax will be collected. Such amounts of property are not mere estimates; knowledge of them comes through sources which may be relied upon, and the owners are definitely known. If such amounts of property could be included in the valuations for apportionment purposes, a much more uniform assessment of the State tax would be made by the Tax Commissioner. If an apportionment could be made upon such a basis, I believe that much of the complaint which has been made during the last few years touching the inequality of the burden of the State tax would cease.

It seems to me to be highly desirable that some provision of statute be made giving authority to include in the valuation for purposes of the State tax property in excess of that furnished the Tax Commissioner by the returns limited in the present statute. A simple amendment to section 101, adding at the end of the section the words " or otherwise," or some equivalent phraseology, would accomplish the purpose.

I recommend that legislation be enacted covering this subject.

Supervisors.

The supervisors of assessors, under the direction of the First Assistant Tax Commissioner, are becoming more efficient as time goes on and are serving the interests of the cities and towns to an increasing extent.

The number of visits made to cities and towns by these officers for the purpose of instruction, and for conference with boards of assessors, and to examine books, during the year, amounts to 981; calls in person at the State House for information, 216; letters asking information and instruction, 1,069; letters sent out upon matters relating to the work and duties of assessors, 1,438.

The supervisor sees the practical side of the assessment of taxes, and by personal contact with boards of assessors and collectors is able to give directions and advice which tend to the better assessment of taxes and to greater efficiency in collection.

With respect to the assessment of taxes, there is practically no limit to the field open to the assessors under the present tax laws for the discovery of property subject to taxation. Many millions have been added to the lists during the year, and much more might have been added but for the lack of authority to advise assessors in cases when their assessments were manifestly inadequate.

So, too, with respect to the collection of taxes. Much improvement is noticeable, due to the wholesome advice of the supervisors. Here, too, a failure to realize the importance of the prompt collection of taxes is a source of embarrassment to the finances of cities and towns. The laws of Massachusetts provide that taxes are due and payable upon demand and notice. So important is the prompt collection of taxes deemed to be that summary measures are provided by law for this purpose: by arrest of the person, by taking and sale of property, and by suit for collection. Notwithstanding these provisions, large amounts of taxes are allowed to remain unpaid, and cities and towns are obliged to borrow money for lack of their ordinary and legitimate revenue. The trouble is due to causes which need not exist, namely, a failure to execute the law, either through ignorance of its provisions or a mistaken notion that great leniency ought to be exercised toward the tax payer. The financial interests of the cities and towns of the Commonwealth are better secured, and the interests of all the citizens better promoted, by a reasonable enforcement of the law. Fortunately, there are collectors who make collections in a reasonable manner, and these serve for a wholesome example to the rest of the Commonwealth. There are towns in which all taxes are collected yearly and cities in which collections are made within two years.

In the great majority of cases such a course is perfectly practicable; and once a city or town has become accustomed to such prompt exercise of the collector's power it never would return to lax methods. Although the supervisor has no direct authority over the collection of taxes, his assistance and advice may always be secured by collectors of taxes who need them.

Salary.

When the office of Deputy Tax Commissioner was created, the salary was fixed tentatively at $3,000. The bill as originally drafted fixed the salary at $3,500, but the smaller sum was adopted on the ground that the office was a new one, and if the salary was subsequently found to be incommensurate with its duties, it could be fixed at a proper figure later on.

The growth of the office, the character of the ability required for the performance of its duties, and the special qualifications of the present incumbent, indicate that the time has come when the salary should be fixed at the original figure.

I therefore recommend that the salary of the Deputy Tax Commissioner be fixed at $3,500 per annum.

WILLIAM D. T. TREFRY.
Tax Commissioner.
